

Boat on the sea

1 / 1

Ev'ryone else disappears the very moment that you enter the room
You have that aura full of passion and lust, of joyful pleasure and doom
Ev'rything circles 'round you, you make life easy and bright, yet I know
That this can only be true until the day when you decide you must go

You have the tension of fever and I'm craving for these feelings within
It seems to me before you came into my life I wasn't feeling a thing
Someone as giving as you, can be expected to soon take from me
You have the strength of a lion, still you're floating like a boat on the sea

Don't leave me alone – stay by my side
No, you have to go – into the night

I'd be a fool to try to change the rules of life, I know they always apply
A heart as savage as yours can not be held, no matter how hard I try
Your life's too short to stop moving, so I can't make you linger around
I was enough for a while now, but now other things have to be found
The only way to give me everything, is knowing soon you'll take back from me
You have the strength of a lion, still you're floating like a boat on the sea

Don't leave me alone – just for tonight
Help me to move on – shed me some light

Your life's too short to stop moving, so I can't make you linger around
I was enough for a while now, but now other things have to be found
The only way to give me everything, is knowing soon you'll take back from me
You have the strength of a lion, still you're floating like a boat on the sea
